Local Department.

There will be no services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

Mr. J. Kingsbury, the dispenser of milk in this village, has been quite sick.

The teachers examination is being held to-day, (Friday), in the High School room in this village.

A. B. Johnson has sold the Decatur Republican to R. L. Warren. Mr. Johnson is going into business with his brother at Detroit.

James Abrams is the person who has purchased the Shropshire sheep, and not James Adams as the NORTHERNER was made to read last week.

There were forty-four applicants for certificates at the Decatur examination held on Oct. 8th. Twenty-four of them succeeded in getting certificates.

Mrs. VanVleck is canvassing for the Life of Garfield and is meeting with commendable success. See a notice of the book she sells, elsewhere in these columns.

The annual meeting of the Van Buren County Grange, will be held at Lawrence, Nov. 3d, 1881, at 10 o'clock a.m. A large gathering of patrons is expected.

Scott Udell, the horse-thief from Breeds-ville, got four years in the house of correction at Ionia, and Delos Frary, his partner, got two years at the same place.

Jo. Hanson purchased of Capt. Ed. Smith the other day, a calf five months old, which weighed, when dressed, 268 pounds. It was the finest veal ever dressed in Paw Paw. Jo. has a taste for good meat and knows what pleases his customers.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of fine wool sheep and blooded hogs of G. F. Harrington. Mr. Harrington is the breeder of some of the finest stock in Western Michigan. Those wishing to purchase, will do well to give him a call.

W. W. Crandall has just returned from a visit to Orleans county, N. Y., and brought with him a very fine stallion of the "North of England" breed of horses. He weighs about 1250, is a dapple gray and as fine a specimen of horses of all work as one often sees.

The petition of Frank Hitchcock vs. the Board of Supervisors of this county for mandamus, to compel the payment of his claim for $2,800 salary, was dismissed from the Supreme Court on Wednesday last. Pros. Atty. Rowland and Judge Lawton argued the case on behalf of the county.

Joshua Chadwick died in this village on Wednesday, of general debility, at the advanced age of 82 years. Deceased was the father of Chadwick Brothers of Decatur, Mrs. J. R. Baker of this place, and Mrs. S. G. Mather of Lawrence. His funeral will take place this (Friday) afternoon at 2 p. m., at the Episcopal church. His remains will be taken by his friends to Avon, N. Y., his former home, for burial.

Mrs. Henry Filley, who died on the 8th inst., after a brief sickness of less than two weeks, at Gliddenburg, was a young lady who had many warm friends and was highly respected, both in this village and that neighborhood where she had resided since her childhood. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sheldon, who have lost two other children within a few years, just as they reached manhood and womanhood. There is but one remaining, a son, who has been an invalid for several years.

We are in receipt of the initial number of the South Haven Messenger, edited by A. N. Brown. It is an eight column folio and is very tastily and neatly gotten up. Its politics are Republican and its editor has high expectations that his enterprise will win. The editor, however, deems it his duty, in his first issue, to publish a scurrilous article on the NORTHERNER. We have no doubt Mr. Editor, as you say, but that you will "live to scratch a venerable head full of honors," but it will be for the best reasons—a dearth of fine comb.

The circuit court adjourned on Thursday, until Dec. 19.

The report that Charlie Hugo was killed, out on the plains of New Mexico, was, we are happy to say, false.

The Circuit Court has granted a new trial in the case of The Farmers Mutual Insurance Company vs. Herbert A. Burch.

On Monday last, A. B. Locher & Co. of Bloomington, made an assignment for benefit of creditors. John Killifer, assignee.

Miss Mattie Blackman officiated as stenographer, during a portion of the present term of court. She performed her duties admirably.

Miss Lottie Johnson, formerly of Waverly, was lately married to Mr. Sale of Dayton, Ill. The ceremony was performed in the school-room at that place before her pupils, where she was engaged as teacher.

The examination of Henry Howland for the killing of his father, Charles Howland, was heard before Esq. Galligan, on Wednesday and Thursday last, and resulted in his being held to answer for the crime of manslaughter. Bail was fixed at $2,000, in default of which the respondent was remanded to jail.

Ex-Governor Morton of N. Y., has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury, by the President. He was the war governor of the empire state, has always been a staunch Republican, and has held himself aloof from the quarrel in the party in that state.

On Saturday last two chaps from Breeds-ville were run in, charged with stealing a span of horses from Wm. Laferty. Their names are Scott Udell and Delos Frary. They were arraigned before Esq. Mason on Monday and waived examination. On Tuesday morning Pros. Atty. Rowland filed an information against them in the circuit court, to which they pleaded guilty. Udell is an old offender, having been once before convicted in this county of burglary, and as we are informed, in Kalamazoo of the same crime. Frary is the chap who was confined in jail last summer for disturbing a religious meeting. They also had in their possession a stolen saddle, and Udell was clad in a suit of stolen clothes which the owner called for and obtained on Tuesday last.

A post of the Grand Army of the Republic was established here on Friday night of last week. Col. Wright of Benton Harbor, the mustering officer of this district, was here and put the boys through in fine shape. A number of the members from the posts at Bangor, Decatur and Hartford were present. The visiting members were dressed in their uniforms, which gave them a very soldierly appearance. The Bangor band was present and gave us a rare treat to some very fine music. All who participated in the ceremonies united in saying that they had a very nice time, and we do not doubt it, for they are, every one of them, right jolly good fellows.

Died, in Fredonia, Mich., Oct. 8th, of consumption, Addie A., wife of Howard Fredenburg, and daughter of Frank and Martha Fisk, aged 23 years. Among the many called away by that dread disease, few have caused more universal gloom. Could the love of devotion of a kind husband of two years, of parents, of brothers and sisters, the skill of physicians, the prayers of many friends have availed she must have been spared. But, alas! death claimed its prize. Her funeral was largely attended at Lyon Lake, Oct. 10th. The church, the casket, her remains and the grave were profusely decorated with beautiful flowers, gifts of kind friends as a last tribute of love. Her mother came from her home in Missouri, to attend her in her last sickness. A comforting discourse was preached by Rev. Broekway. Farewell Addie, rest in peace in your flower-decked grave, fit emblems of your cheerful, genial nature, while your memory will be cherished in the bosoms of your friends through this life, with a hope of a glorious reunion in the world to come, where sickness and death are never known.

The Bangor Reflector is worried about the teachers in our school. Possess your soul in quietness, Mr. Reflector, we can attend to our own educational matters without your aid.—NORTHERNER.

Hoot! hoot! Mr. Northerner what makes you feel so surly? The Reflector has just as much right to worry about Paw Paw school matters as you have to worry about the county board of examiners. Suppose then, that we strut forth like a turkey gobbler and say: "Possess your soul in quietness Mr. Northerner, we can attend to our own educational matters without your aid." Oo-dle-oo-eh! oosh! oosh!—Advance.

The above is the convincing reply of the Advance to our comments of last week on the new school law, and the manner in which it is administered by our county examiners. We had supposed that everyone in the county was interested in that matter and had a right to express an opinion thereon, while on the other hand we thought our village school was a local matter in which only our own citizens were directly interested. We are at a loss to decide, whether the reply of the Advance was intended for a crow, or a bray.

We clip the following extract from the Fulton Republican published at Canton, Ill., which has reference to one of our former young men of this place:

The gold medal awarded to the winner of the bicycle race at the Fair last week, consisted of a $20 gold piece, which has been engraved by C. C. Vittum's Jeweler, Mr. Charles Melchor, with the following legend: "First prize, one mile Bicycle race, Fulton county Fair, Canton, Illinois, 1881. Time 4:05."

The engraving has been done in a very superior manner. Mr. Melchor having accomplished the feat of leaving the milled edge on the inside of the coin untouched, and has done a job of lettering of which he may well be proud.

Chris. Kirchner was in Chicago last week Friday with a car of hogs. During the afternoon he stepped into a bank near the stock yards and drew between $1,400 and $1,500. As he turned to go out he noticed a man standing near him and another outside. Reaching his hotel he was surprised to have these two men ask him for a nickel each. This amount he gave them, the thought then coming to him that they were after his money. He spoke to the landlord about it, and that gentleman sent two policemen to the depot with Chris, he to take the 9:10 train to New Buffalo. His two guardian acquaintances also bought tickets for that place, taking seats in the same car and near him. The conductor had been notified by the policeman, and upon Chris, finding they were upon the train he was taken in another car and brought through to Kalamazoo, thus saving his money, for it was no doubt the intention of these fellows to rob him, either when he went to sleep or when he left the train. That was the heaviest sum Chris ever had, and the general opinion is he was some between Chicago and New Buffalo.—South Haven Sentinel.

The South Haven Sentinel extracts a squib from the Northerner and splices it to part of another, then they read thus:

"This importation we have from Ohio, who is 'on the make,' by refusing teachers certificates on regular examinations and granting them one on a special examination, had better resign his position. We have no use for such in this county.—NORTHERNER. It is brave to own a newspaper and use it to avenge personal grievances. The public are so much interested in such a controversy—in a horn.—NORTHERNER."

The Sentinel means, no doubt to give the Northerner a dose of its own medicine. But inadvertently, the reader of the above extracts would infer that they both alluded to the same person or thing. This is not the proper inference however. The first extract has reference, in all probability, to some imported Buckeye oysters which the Northerner editor cannot digest, whereas the second extract refers directly to Captain William Edward Stewart, of the South Haven Sentinel.—Advance.

Thank you Mr. Sec. of the county examining board for the comparison. You put it much stronger than we dared to. We see you thoroughly comprehend the situation and know well where to apply the term "about as many brains as an oyster."

At half past seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, there took place a social event at the Presbyterian church in this village, in which for several days there has been considerable interest manifested by the people in this vicinity, and especially among those who are in the habit of attending church there, the marriage of Rev. Henry W. Harvey, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this village, to Miss F. Belle McEntee, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. McEntee of Antwerp. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Harvey, brother of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. Mr. Brown of Kalamazoo. The bridal party entered the church in the following order: The eldergmen, Mr. Frank McEntee and Miss Harvey, sister of the bridegroom, followed by the happy pair. The immediate friends and relatives of the bridal party had already entered the church and taken seats near the altar. The bride was arrayed in an elegant prune colored Satin de Lyon dress, vest front trimmed with lace, and no ornaments. Her bridesmaid wore a black suit, with lace and flowers. The church had been tastefully decorated. The altar had been removed and a large arch of evergreens and flowers erected, from the center of which hung a large floral bell with a handsome calla lily, to represent the clapper; beneath this arch and bell, the happy couple stood and plighted the vows of hymeneal union. After the ceremony a reception was given at the residence of John W. Free, which was attended by a large circle of the wedded couple's friends, where congratulations were offered and received. The presents, though not large in numbers, were very nice. A handsome silver water set, by the members of his congregation; a silver cake basket, by the young friends of the bride; a silver pie knife, by Mr. and Mrs. E. Bradt of Marcellus; a pair of towels, by Mr. and Mrs. DeGraff, and a book of poems by Mr. Brown. The minister who has watched over, with jealous care, and attended well to the spiritual wants of his flock, has also, it would appear, had an eye open to business as well, and has selected her, whom to him seemed the fairest and loveliest of all his fold, and claims her as his own while life shall last. The lovely bride has lived in this vicinity ever since her childhood, and it is hoped that her husband will not soon take her elsewhere to reside.
